Kheuapiad

Kheuapiad is written ‘ເຄືອບຽດ’ in Lao language. Kheuapiad is called ‘jungle vine’ in English and ‘葛 -Kuzu-’ in Japanese.

Kheuapiad Baiveng

Kheuapiad Baimon

Kheuapiad has been used by local villagers in their life; for carrying crops, tools and stones. This material made in nature in the northern part of Laos is scarce even in Laos. The fiber is strong and excellent.

PMC arranges Kheuapiad to products which are usable for daily life. PMC provides various Kheuapiad products; such as bags and pouches knitted like a net, products made from Kheuapiad textile.

Yaboi

Yaboi is written ‘ຢາບອຍ’ in Lao language. Yaboi is called ‘Linden’ in English and ‘科 -shina-’ in Japanese.

In the areas which Yaboi is found in, the local villagers have used it in their daily life since long ago.

The fiber is strong and has a natural flavor.

Yaboi plants (Female)

Lavang plants (Male)

The colors of Yaboi fiber are subtly different by the tree, and also different from the season of harvest.

In Yaboi textile, there is weaved white fiber. This white fiber is the fiber of a tree called ‘ລະວັງ [Lavang]’.

In Laos, It is said that ‘Yaboi-tree is female, and Lavang-tree is male’. And, Lavang-tree are less than Yaboi-tree.

Oudomxay Cotton

The cotton used as our products is organic cotton in Oudomxay. It is said that the cotton in the northern part of Laos is particularly fine and soft. And it is picked and spun carefully by hand. Moreover, in Oudomxay there still is a tradition of natural dyeing.
